Terrific romance and last in the series Amigas y AmorVon Philologus"Playing the Player" - the last in the Amigas Amor series:There are only three words to characterize this book: wicked, wicked and wicked!!Slut meets ex-slut and you know what: the love bug bites them and they do virtually every maneuver known to mankind to avoid it (love) and IT - oh no! Great romance, very convincing characters, no sex. Madeira ... swoon, ah and Grace ... as good. And the grandmother, wonderful (you got to hate the sisters though for always knowing best ) and of course it is good to meet some fav characters from the series again. And what stuck out for me in this book is the incredible talent of Lea Santos as a writer - she really lets it rip and drives full throttle through the whole book. Thus wicked, wicked and wicked (I am sure her editor had at some point a small heart attack, but what can you do in the face of total brilliant enthusiasm) -- so to sum it up: Get the book, buckle up, enjoy and get yourself ready for the next series coming from Lea 2011. Here is the blurb: Madeira Pacias has been happily coasting through life as a confirmed and contented single player. But the day she stops to help the victims of a highway pileup, everything changes. Madeira finds the woman of her dreams...dreams she wasn't even aware she had. Grace Obregon is beautiful, vulnerable, and exactly the kind of woman Madeira usually avoids. But now, she'll do anything to convince Grace of her sincerity. Reformed wild child Grace might owe Madeira her gratitude, but she doesn't owe her anything else. There was a time when she might have fallen for this irresistible charmer, but at the moment, Madeira just seems like the ghost of girlfriends past. These days, Grace is looking for stability and respect, and the kind of woman who won't break her heart. Somebody unlike her seductive roadside angel...unless Madeira really has shed her devil-may-care past.

ber den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Lea Santos has been making up stories since she was a child, according to her mother. Usually these had to do with where she was, who she was with, and whether or not she'd finished her math homework (which she hadn't). When it came time to pick a career, Lea waffled, then did everything from working as a tour guide in Europe to being a cop, to working as a bookkeeper for an exotic bird and reptile company probably not the best choice, since (1) she never did finish that math, and (2) the Komodo dragons freaked her out. She eventually decided to go with her strengths and continue making up stories, except this time, she'd turn them into whole books. She rarely lies anymore about where she's been or who she was with...
