Schade dass ich es nicht in der Originalsprache lesen kann. Unbedingt auf Englisch lesen, da in der deutschen Übersetzung noch mehr an der besonderen Atmosphäre verloren geht. Die Erzelperspektive kommt auf Englisch besser zur Geltung. Dieses Buch habe ich bereits 2 Mal verschenkt. Es sollten noch mehr koreanische Bücher übersetzt werden.

Kurzbeschreibung WINNER OF THE MAN ASIAN LITERARY PRIZE When sixty-nine-year-old So-nyo is separated from her husband among the crowds of the Seoul subway station, her family begins a desperate search to find her. Yet as long-held secrets and private sorrows begin to reveal themselves, they are forced to wonder: how well did they actually know the woman they called Mom? Told through the piercing voices and urgent perspectives of a daughter, son, husband, and mother, Please Look After Mom is at once an authentic picture of contemporary life in Korea and a universal story of family love. From the Trade Paperback edition. Pressestimmen Shins prose, intimate and hauntingly spare . . . powerfully conveys griefs bewildering immediacy. . . . Who is the missing woman? In this raw tribute to the mysteries of motherhood, only Mom knows. The New York Times A suspenseful, haunting, achingly lovely novel about the hidden lives, wishes, struggles and dreams of those we think we know best. . . . Just like family, this novel also delivers ultimate gifts: moments of gorgeous lucidity, love that knows no depth, beauty in the details of many long-held memories. The Seattle Times Haunting. . . . Fervent . . . but also sinuous and elusive. . . . Details, unembellished and unsentimental, are the individual cells that form this novel's beating heart. . . . The novel's language so formal in its simplicity bestows a grace and solemnity on childhood scenes. . . . With each description, the relentless tide of the past erodes the yielding ground of the present to reveal the contours of one woman's life. The Boston Globe "Please Look After Mom is an authentic, moving story that brings to vivid life the deep connections that lie at the core of Korean culture. But it also speaks beautifully to an urgent issue of our time: migration, and how the movement of people from small towns and villages to big cities can cause heartbreak and even tragedy. This is a tapestry of family life that will be read all over the world. I loved this book." Gary Shteyngart, author of Super Sad True Love Story "Suspenseful and moving. Cleverly structured and brimming with secrets and revelations, Please Look After Mom is a powerful and memorable read." Edwidge Danticat, author of Breath, Eyes, Memory and Brother, I'm Dying "Kyung-sook Shin has managed some kind of alchemy in this novel. Weaving together four vivid voices - of daughter, son, husband and mother, each with the immediacy of a whispered confession - she has created a heartbreaking family mystery. Here is a deeply felt journey into a culture foreign to many - yet with a theme that is universal in its appeal. A terrific novel that stayed with me long after I'd finished its final, haunting pages. This is a real discovery." Abraham Verghese, author of Cutting for Stone "Direct and affecting. An intimate window into the history and custom of the country." Janice Y. K. Lee, author of The Piano Teacher Kurzbeschreibung WINNER OF THE MAN ASIAN LITERARY PRIZE When sixty-nine-year-old So-nyo is separated from her husband among the crowds of the Seoul subway station, her family begins a desperate search to find her.
