Woodbury When I first visited the store and saw this book, I had never heard of this author. I was taken back by the title even more so of the story description found on the back of the cover. I thought to myself, now what is this story about that featured a female minister and a man who called himself, 'Sin'. Well to my surprise and perhaps to others who have an open and receptive mind, this was an outstanding book that I can find myself reading over and over again. For those who are believers in God or a higher force, this book provides such an illustration of what it means to let go and let God lead your life. This book, showed me how He has a plan for all our lives, often not seeing the full picture at the time of why things happen the way they do, it just falls in place. The picture does not become clear until all pieces are in place. Well this story illustrates it all in this one book. Sin, whose name is Sinclair and Nedra have history together but the author does such an excellent job of how our lives can cross each other's paths in full circle to perfectly come together as God had it planned all along. If you like a book that will illustrate the power of love, faith, prayer, the thrill of adventure and passion. READ, this book. Its stated on the back of the cover, this is the author's first novel. Well Ms Rhodes, you did a wonderful job telling this story and I look forward to more of your novels in the future. To my fellow readers, give this one a try and read it, I don't think you'll be disappointed, as a matter of fact there's some surprises! Also recommend: Follow Your Heart by Raynetta Manees and Passion by T.T. Henderson Especially with the the viewpoints dealing with Sin and Nedra ! Realizing Sin was undercover I could not excuse him from running out on her especially in her time of need ! He left her to face the demon of the church by herself . Just because she's the minister does not remove her from sin . We are all human and make mistakes ! None of us are perfect and we do fall . She was human and yes made mistakes too! Thinking about it was falling in love really such a sin ! Both or them were single and confess their love to each other ! Who knew he would run being undercover ? He who is without sin cast the first stone ? We all sin even the messenger . The other members of the bclub rate Sin higher than I did ! We had a great time discussing Sin (his leaving udercover) and and sin ! A good book for discussion !

Kurzbeschreibung A reverend involved with sin, is a scenario that NEDRA DAVIS never thought she would have to face. Known in the community as the Anti-Drug Queen, Reverend Davis is the spiritual leader of a church renowned for its innovative fight against drugs. Nedra is beautiful, but she is also the soul of propriety that is until Sin enters her life, Sexy, sophisticated, and strikingly handsome, SINCLAIR REASONER isn't the kind of man a female minister might attract. Nedra certainly has no place in her life for a man called Sin. Yet the fire between them ignites, threatening to blaze out of control and consume them, especially since unknown to Nedra Sin is involved in the drug trade
